A New ODE,

BEING

A Congratulary Poem

ON

The Glorious Succeſſes of Her Majeſty's Arms, under the Command of the Auſpicious General his Grace the Duke of Marlborough.

Set to Muſick by Mr. Jer. Clark.

To be Perform'd by the Beſt Maſters, on Friday the 20th of this Inſtant, at Seven a Clock in York-Buildings.

19. Dec. I. 1706.

HAIL Happy QUEEN! Born to Heal and to Unite.
Our private Heats now melt into Delight.
Your Reign alone foretells a Downy Peace,
Wealth ever waits on Piety's Increaſe.

II.

Diviſion here will loſe its hated Name,
And Faction ceaſe which ſet us in a Flame,
Or only ſtrive to raiſe bright ANNA's Fame.

III.

New Conqueſts fill each Muſe's buſie Tongue,
And Bards muſt Sing of Deeds before unſung.
The Danube, the Moſell, the Maes and Rhine
To furniſh ANNA's Arms with Trophies Join,
And ſpeak of Victories by neither ſeen,
Till ſuch an ARMY fought for ſuch a QUEEN.

Chorus.

Oh Albion! mark the Day that gave her Birth,
And let your Joy proclaim it round the Earth.

For Two Voices.

Triumph and Fame clap their rejoicing Wings,
When Victory her Hero homeward brings.
Loud Acclamations fill the rended Air,
And Shouts of Joy ſucceed the Noiſe of War.

Whilſt

Whilst ANNA fenc'd within her Watry Walls,
Sets poising Empires in her Equal Scales.
And you Great Sir, with Flaming Sword in Hand,
As the Angel Paradise Protect our Land.

The Grand Chorus.

Io's shall with repeated Io's Join,
Till Harmony on Earth resembles the Divine.
From Pole to Pole the pleasing Sound shall fly,
IO REGINA be the Mutual Cry.

A New SONG,

Set by Mr. D. Purcell.

TO our Arms by Land and Sea's,
O'er the Danube, o'er the Mease,
O'er the Tagus, o'er the Rhine,
Drink a Health in different Wine.

Port to Galloway is due;
Still in Spanish fill to Rook:
Drink a Bumper of Rhenish, to
The more Successful English Duke.

And if our Conquest we pursue,
Such another Victory can gain,
Spite of all that France can do,
Next Year we'll Drink it in Champaign.

FINIS.
